

Iliana GIANNOULI

National and Kapodistrian University of
Athens (NKUA)

Iliana Giannouli is a journalist and holds a PhD in media studies from the Department of Communication and Media Studies (NKUA). Her dissertation focuses on the foreign correspondents based in Greece and their occupational culture. Her research interests include international news, international journalistic culture, and EU journalism.

As a journalist in the health industry herself, she is also interested in medical journalism and the challenges of health reporters.