

Judith CLARES-GAVILÁN

Open University of Catalonia (UOC)

Judith Clares-Gavilán (PhD), lecturer of the Information and Communication Sciences Studies at Open University of Catalonia (UOC), currently, she is Director of the UOC's Degree in Communication. Graduate in Journalism and PhD in Communication at Ramon Llull University (URL) with a thesis on industry and audiovisual diversity around the video on demand \(VoD\) of cinema in Europe (2014).

She promoted and directed the Postgraduate in Audiovisual Distribution: VoD and new business models. UOC-filmin (2013-2016). Expert in new audiovisual distribution models, VOD and connected television, was awarded the XXII CAC Awards for audiovisual communication research for its work on regulating and promoting video on demand \(VOD\) in Europe (2010).

Its main lines of research focus on the structure and policies of the audiovisual sector, and especially on changes in the sector with the emergence of the Internet. Member of the GAME Group, is coordinator and co-author of the books: La revolución over the top: Del Vídeo bajo Demanda \(VOD\) a la televisión por Internet. Editorial UOC (2019); Distribución audiovisual en internet. VoD y nuevos modelos de negocio. Editorial UOC (2013) y Políticas culturales y de comunicación. La intervención pública en cine, televisión y prensa. Editorial UOC (2013). She writes periodically at COMeIN.