

Laura LÓPEZ FORÉS

Open University of Catalonia (UOC)

Laura López Forés is a research consultant with a hybrid background in both consulting and academia.

She is currently working at UOC's spin-off organisation Open Evidence. Prior to that, she was a researcher in labour and health economics at the Department of Applied Economics of the Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB). As part of this experience, she conducted several studies for various Belgian institutions with direct policy-impact. She, therefore, has a strong quantitative background on econometric as well as statistical methods. This expertise is combined with her knowledge on EU projects gained through her experience working at everis, consultancy company specialised in digital transformation and with the German institution for international development (GIZ GmbH), where she helped in the management and implementation of EU Election Observation Missions.

She holds a master's degree in Economic Analysis & European Policy from the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management. Native speaker in Spanish and Catalan, Laura is also fluent in English and French.
