

EUMEPLAT

European Media Platforms:
assessing positive and negative
externalities for European culture

Newsletter #6 // September 2022

Dear Friends,

We are glad to invite you to the First Policy Roundtable organised by EUMEPLAT and taking place next September 26th, 2022 in Brussels and streamed online.

State of health of European media, and what to do
26/09/2022, 3:00 - 5:15 pm

Register your participation online by clicking here

This project has received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement No 101004488

The aim of the first policy roundtable is to present the objectives and first research findings of the project after one year and a half to relevant stakeholders in the media and culture field, so as to discuss and exchange on the results achieved and pave the way for the upcoming months. The roundtable is also the occasion to reflect on the current European media policies and provide stakeholders and policy makers with inputs and recommendations on policy issues to contribute to the current debate around media. "State of health of European media, and what to do" will focus on two main topics: Best practices from media regulation and policy in audiovisual media and in media platforms and further requirements and Cultural Europeanization and promotion of European works.

AGENDA

In the morning of the same day, a joint roundtable on "Evolving European media landscapes and Europeanisation: Emerging trends and key policy challenges" will be organised with three other H2020 projects, MEDIATIZED_EU, MEDIADELCOM and MediaFutures.

September started carrying with it an agenda full of events for our project team that will continue in the next weeks.

Besides the First Policy Roundtable, EUMEPLAT is being presented in several debates on the topic of media platforms and European culture and identity.

Then all the partners will meet in Sofia, to plan the next steps and to check how everything is going.

Have a look at the appointments we have.

Do not hesitate to contact us to know more!

Thank you for following us,
EUMEPLAT team
